FOREWORD

With all its ups and downs, 2019 came to an end and it was a year full of hopes and fears. The thing that was more highlighted was the rise in tensions, challenges, clashes and cracks all across the world. The majority of the developments and human rights violations in 2019, such as migrants' crisis, rise in the number of victims of human rights violations in Yemen, Myanmar, Syria, and in parts of Africa, and other thematic issues such as concerns over the environment, health, development, water and healthy diet, were escalated in most instances.

Continuation and increase of unilateral and illegal sanctions imposed by the United States against the Iranian people, once again showed that Washington has no respect for international rule of law.

Throughout the whole of 2019, the ODVV tried to reflect on positive human rights developments inside the country and broadcast the inhuman pressures of sanctions on the people of Iran to international addressees.

In this regard, all activities, researches, publications and journals, sittings and workshops held that are reflected in this Annual Report, are all the results of the tireless efforts of ODVV's directors, researchers, experts and team who either as full-time and part-time throughout the year were the scientific, research and executive capacities of our NGO, Mr. Haroot Azarian, Ms. Hamideh Aboutorabi, Mr. Esmaeel Oveisi, Ms. Sara Balkh, Ms. Negar Paidar, Mr. Lotfolah Parvaneh, Ms. Maasoomah Taghavi, Mr. Ahmadreza Salamati, Ms. Elham Shooshtarizadeh, Mr. Iman Ziabari, Ms. Maryam Erzi, Ms. Marzieh Azizian, Ms. Leila Enayati, Mr. Reza Alameh, Mr. Hassan Fartousi, Mr. Majid Feizikhah, Ms. Mansooreh Mohammadi, Ms. Somayeh Mesbahi, Ms. Farzane Mostofi-far, Ms. Sanaz Moazes, Ms. Firoozeh Mir-razavi, and also experts and counsellors from the ODVV Rehabilitation Department (Raha), Ms. Jaleh Afshari Monfared, Mr. Seyed Hassan Taghavi, Mr. Mir Saeed Jaafari, Ms. Maryam Jahangiri, Ms. Foroogh Chitsaz, Ms. Tayebah Haghighatkah, Ms. Salimeh Daremi, Ms. Maryam Sabzabadi, Ms. Liora Saeed, Mr. Mohammad Sadeghi, Ms. Maryam Saberipour, Ms. Mansooreh Fazilati, Ms. Maasoomah Mohseni Kabir and Ms. Maryam Namayeshi.

- Unilateral Coercive Measures and Violation of Human Rights

In this side event UN Special Rapporteur on the Impact of Universal Coercive Measures on the Enjoyment of Human Rights, Mr. Idriss Jazairy, Geneva university professor and, Grégoire Mallard, Rouhollah Nasrollahi, Middle East Studies PhD student at Oxford University and Peyman Raoufi, head of the Youth Department of Beverly Hills United Nations Association, all gave speeches.

Some of the important points that the guest speakers raised included: sanctions create an environment of fear, as a result in fear of getting punished business companies avoid business relations with country under sanctions. Iran's conditions are economic blockade conditions and in protection of civilians under blockade, actions must be taken in accordance with the Geneva Four Conventions. Sanctions outside of United Nations procedures, are both illegitimate and illegal. Sanctions against Iran are designed in such way that in practice block the way for the import of any drugs and medicines into the country. In spite of permits issued by US Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Asset Control (OFAC) for international organizations such as the Child Foundation, American banks refuse to do banking business with Iran.

ODVV Reading Oral Statements during Holding the Council's Biannual Panel on Unilateral Coercive Measures

The Human Rights Council's Experts' Panel on Unilateral Coercive Measures was held at 10 am on 12 September 2019. This panel is a prelude for the review of adoption of the Universal Declaration of the Impact of Unilateral Coercive Measures on Human Rights and Right to Development which was held in the Human rights Council main Hall. In the opportunity made available to NGOs to express their views in this regard, the ODVV read a statement. The main points of this statement are as follows:

- Unilateral sanctions are "collective punishments", and in some cases a "crime against humanity" and must immediately end.
- Comprehensive sanctions violate all the rights of people. There is international consensus for the prohibition of sanctions, and UN resolutions show that those that impose sanctions must accept the responsibility of the violation of the rights of people as a result of sanctions.
- The aim of comprehensive sanctions is to violate all the rights of people that include, right to life, health and development.
- In the recent years, UN General Assembly resolutions on Cuba and NAM resolutions on Venezuela indicate that there is global consensus against sanctions, therefore adoption of a universal declaration on Unilateral Coercive Measures and their negative effect on Human Rights and Right to Development is a very effective step.
- It is necessary for this declaration to define victims' compensation so that sanctions imposing countries are forced to pause and think a little before imposing numerous sanctions on other countries
- ODVV's reiteration on the recommendation of the Special Rapporteur on UCM that says there is a need for the UN General Secretary to appoint a Special Representative on UCM.
